HELP SPREAD THE WORD

WE ARE A RESOURCE FOR INDUSTRIAL COMPANIES ON NATURAL RESOURCE DAMAGE ASSESSMENT (NRDA) AND RESTORATION MATTERS

The Ad-Hoc Industry Natural Resource Management Group is a multi-sector group of industrial companies with nearly 30 years of experience on natural resource damage assessment and restoration matters related to hazardous waste, oil spill, and other incident sites. We work with a wide set of stakeholders and serve as a key resource to the broad industrial community -- members and non-members alike -- on NRDA and restoration and related issues. Additional information about the Group and the NRD issue is available on our website www.NRDonline.org and the related website www.NRDARPracticeExchange.com.

We invite companies of any size to contact us, especially if you are new to NRD issues.

Our Executive Director, Barbara Goldsmith, may be contacted at (202) 628-6818 or bjg@NRDonline.org.
